

Long-standing non-League football writer Steve Penny has had a busy few months, putting together no fewer than four new books (with another on the way!)

The Tyke Travels yearbook author went back to basics during the tail end of the Covid lockdown to produce a book about grassroots football in Yorkshire, discovering many links to the very pinnacle of the game with visits to 31 grounds across the Broad Acres. Towering Tales & A Ripping Yarn is £11.99 from Amazon – tinyurl.com/ToweringTales (Also available as an ebook at £9.99)

He followed that up with a long weekend in Lisbon to produce 'Tarts, Trams & Tuk Tuks', which according to the Portugoal.net website is: "A little gem of a book depicting the adventures (and misadventures) of a group of English football tourists on a long weekend trip to Lisbon. Written in a lively, entertaining and informative style,... the perfect appetizer for anyone intending to visit Lisbon to take in the football and non-football experiences the Portuguese capital has to offer."

Tarts, Trams & Tuk Tuks is £6 (plus £1.65 postage) via eBay – tinyurl.com/eBayTuks

Steve was off on his travels again to catch some winter sun and returned from Lanzarote with a fascinating account of football on the Canary Island.

Island Hopping features every club on the island, with detailed visitor guide, an account of his trip and the history of the sport on Lanzarote. Island Hopping – the football grounds of Lanzarote is £14.99 and available from Amazon – tinyurl.com/LanzGrounds

Finally, a bit closer to home, Steve spent a lot of time traversing the highways and byroads of Lincolnshire to compile the first complete guide to football in the county.

Pilgrims' Patch covers all 160-plus teams in Lincolnshire, from Football League to parks football with a comprehensive history section, courtesy of Martyn Girdham. The full-colour book has sections on all 'Pyramid' clubs, with fantastic ground pictures, travel details, kits and club badges.

Pilgrims' Patch – the football grounds of Lincolnshire is £15.99 and also available from

Amazon – tinyurl.com/LincsPatch

Plenty of options for early Christmas presents for your intrepid football traveller there!

Keep an eye open for Steve's next book, a fascinating account of the Montagu Hospital Cup. The Mexborough charity cup competition has been running for 125 years and has uncovered some amazing links with the game at the highest level.
